Christina Köchling and Christian Felgendreher studied architecture at the UdK Berlin from 2001 to 2008. At the beginning of 2015 they founded the Felgendreher Olfs Köchling office in Berlin together with the former fellow student Johannes Olfs.

In their designs, they give great importance to the development of site- and function-specific forms. The model, the plan and the image are essential tools for them in this process. Their goal is to create atmospheric spaces that will still be relevant for many years to come.
